“Are you involved in education of future academics in the field of biomedicine and health? Or are you yourself a PhD student in this field? If you would like to contribute to shaping the next generations of PhD students do not forget to join more than 130 international universities who are already the members of Orpheus community at our ORPHEUS 2025 Conference " Adapting Academia: Navigating PhD Programs Amidst Global Crises and Changes". We will address new strategies in PhD education, ethics in research, opportunities to enhance quality and visibility, challenges arising from global crises and changes affecting PhD scholars, supervision issues, the role of sport science and health within biomedicine, digitalization opportunities in PhD education, and many other best practices to elevate the standards of doctoral education.

This event brings together PhD content creators, scientific advisors in academia, heads of PhD programs, administrative and legal staff, and, of course, PhD students in the biomedicine and health fields from Europe and around the globe. Invited presentations from eminent scientists, oral and poster sessions, and dynamic discussions will focus on improving the quality of PhD programs. Universities, institutes, and other stakeholders in clinical and basic human and veterinary medicine, pharmacy, physiotherapy, kinesiology, biotechnology, nutrition, physical activity, and other biomedicine and health-related fields offering PhD programs are welcome!

Attending this conference will give you valuable knowledge and practical strategies to enhance the quality of your PhD programs, cope with many problems arising from current world situation to ensure they remain competitive and relevant in everchanging academic community.
