We are delighted to announce that the V. International Congress on Oncological Emergencies will be held on November 26–29, 2026, hosted by the Faculty of Medicine, Uşak University, and we are pleased to invite you to this distinguished scientific meeting.

We are excited and honored to be organizing the fifth edition of our congress on oncological emergencies. This year, we believe that our congress will be further strengthened by the valuable support of the Association of Emergency Medicine Specialists, Turkish Biochemistry Society, Academic Oncology Society, Turkish Lung Cancer Society, Lokman Hekim University, Oncology Nursing Association, and Oncology Dietitians Association.

Preparations for the congress are currently underway, and detailed information about the scientific program, abstract submission, registration, and other congress activities will be shared with you shortly through the official website of our university. We would like to assure you that we will make every effort to organize a scientifically strong, productive, and inspiring event.

We sincerely hope that you will save the dates of the V. International Congress on Oncological Emergencies in your calendar and join us for this important scientific gathering.

Accepted oral presentations and all invited lectures will be delivered either online or in person at the congress venue. Participants may contribute to the congress through oral and/or poster presentations within the scope of oncological emergencies and related scientific fields.

All presentations will be recorded and made available to the participants following the congress. At the end of the congress, an ISBN-registered Congress Abstract Book and an ISBN-registered Full-Text Congress Proceedings Book will be published.

The V. International Congress on Oncological Emergencies has been planned in accordance with the criteria for associate professorship applications and academic promotion and appointment processes, excluding the Academic Incentive Program.
